He prayed with evident fervour for the space of twenty minutes, the women all the while groaning and sighing, just as other members of the emotional sex do at Salvation Army meetings. Then came what was to serve for a sermon--an exposition of the 10th chapter of Romans. In this task Donald held out for half an hour. Following this, we had other four verses of the 25th Psalm, a long Prayer from an elder in a back seat, two more verses of the same psalm, another prayer from a man in a front seat, and yet two more verses of the same favourite psalm. Then came the passing round of the hat, and afterwards we were at liberty to go. The women rose first and left the church in a body; the men followed by themselves at a respectful distance. There was no intimation as to when the afternoon service was to begin. A very short interval was allowed; then three or four taps on the bell and the faithful were together again. On this occasion Mr. Mackay s substitute had staying power sufficient to spin the service out to the legitimate two hours. Closely following this, there was a Sabbath school service, conducted by the schoolmaster. No sooner was it over than that singular bell was sounded once more, and again the entire population hurried to church. At the evening diet, which lasts generally till after eight, all...
