Excerpt: .might occur; that the strikes which did occur appear to have been steps taken by the defendants to obtain the discharge of such employees as were Lafayette men who declined to sign application blanks for reinstatement; that these defendants did not in all cases threaten a boycott of the employers business, but did threaten that the place of business of at least one such employer would be left off from a so-called fair list to be published by the Baltimore Union. The master also found that, from all the evidence presented, the object which the Baltimore men and the defendant association sought to accomplish in all the acts which were testified Plant v. Woods. to was to compel the members of the Lafayette Union to join the Baltimore Union, and aa a means to this end they caused strikes to be instituted in the...
