One year ago, when we assumed charge of the affairs of the Society, it was at the close of a year of prosperity to all classes of industry in the State. The agriculturist had been blessed with a plentiful harvest, which had enabled and induced him to prepare for an extensive field of operations, with bright hopes that his renewed efforts would again be crowned with success. The miner, in addition to extracting from the placer deposits and quartz ledges the usual quantities of the precious metals, had extended his discoveries and developed new regions of unusual richness, and was confident in the prospect of a year of unequaled prosperity. The mechanic, the manufacturer, and all other classes of the community dependent on the two former for encouragement and support, had received a corresponding impulse and were looking forward to the new year cheered with confidence and hope. Under the judicious and economical management of our immediate predecessors, the financial condition of the Society had been...
